

Two division managers named in Department of Finance

Release date: Thursday, Feb. 1, 2024

City Manager Shelley Dickstein announces the appointment of two division managers in the Department of Finance.

Sandra Taylor is named manager of the Division of Utility Revenue Administration. The division is responsible for managing billing and customer payments for water and waste collection services provided by the City of Dayton. The division operates a call center and accepts payments at paydaytonwater.com, at a City Hall customer contact center, by mail, and at many area retail stores.

Taylor joined the City of Dayton in June of 2022 as a customer service supervisor, with earlier employment in financial operations and customer services at AES Ohio and United Theological Seminary. She earned a B.S. in Business Administration at Central State University.

Darryl L. Woods is the newly appointed manager of the Division of Tax & Accounting Administration. The division supervises the accounts of all City departments and offices, receives and invests cash, collects receivables, disburses payables, administers employee payroll, and manages external financial reporting. The division's Treasury Section annually processes approximately $275 million in utility and income tax revenues.

Woods is joining the City of Dayton after serving since 2015 as senior accountant for the Metropolitan Sewer District of Greater Cincinnati and as accountant/supervisor for the Greater Cincinnati Water Works from 2003 to 2015. He earned a B.A. in Accounting at Thomas Moore College.
