

Abbie Patel-Jones named director of Management & Budget

Release date: Wednesday, Feb. 7, 2024

City Manager Shelley Dickstein announces the appointment of Abbie Patel-Jones as director of the Department of Management & Budget.

The Department of Management & Budget develops the City of Dayton's annual general and capital budgets and conducts internal audits, performance measurement, economic forecasting, and monthly Finance Committee briefings to the City Commission. As director, Patel-Jones will be responsible for oversight of these activities and the department's 11 employees.

Patel-Jones is a six-year City of Dayton employee, with progressively responsible duties in the Department of Management & Budget, including experience as acting director and senior management analyst. Previous employers include VARtek Services, Fortis College, and Eastway Behavioral Health Services.

Patel-Jones earned a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (emphasis in Management Information Systems) at the University of Dayton in 2005 and was awarded degrees by Sinclair Community College (Computer Information Systems) and Gujarat University (Business/Accountancy).

"Abbie Patel-Jones has demonstrated proficiency in City of Dayton management and budget resources and processes, as well as commitment to serving the City organization and the Dayton community with excellence," said Dickstein. "We look forward to her continued contribution to Dayton."
