

Emily Crow named Deputy Director of Planning, Neighborhoods & Development

Release date: Wednesday, Dec. 4, 2024

City Manager Shelley Dickstein announces the appointment of Emily Crow as Deputy Director of the Dept. of Planning, Neighborhoods & Development, effective Dec. 2, 2024.

As deputy director, Crow will be a key member of a leadership team responsible for managing a 100+-member employee group carrying out community planning and engagement, building inspection and permitting, zoning administration, and economic development.

Crow comes to the City of Dayton following more than three years as development director for Harrison Township and 20 years as senior planner/associate with the McBride Dale Clarion firm, where she consulted with cities and counties throughout Ohio and the Midwest, Southeast and Mid-Atlantic regions.

She earned a Bachelor of Urban Planning at the University of Cincinnati College of Design, Architecture, Art and Planning and is certified by the American Institute of Certified Planners. She recently served as adjunct instructor and guest lecturer at the University of Cincinnati.

"We are happy to welcome Emily to the City of Dayton's planning and development team," said Dickstein. "We look forward to her contributions to Dayton's momentum."
