

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Dayton Interational Airport to host full-scale scenario-based exercise

- Wednesday, June 12 -

Release Date: Monday, June 10 2019

Contact: Zeana Kitchens, 937-454-8217

On Wednesday, June 12, from 8 a.m. to noon, the Dayton International Airport (DAY) airfield will transform into a simulated crisis zone for a full-scale emergency exercise.

DAY aviation staff, fire rescue, police department, several emergency response agencies, and many volunteers will participate in the exercise to test EMS/medical response, command post operations and communications.

The exercise, conducted every three years as required by the Federal Aviation Administration, will evaluate the effectiveness of DAY's emergency plan and its ability to respond to a major incident. It complements an annual table-top emergency exercise conducted by the airport.

Media: Please check in at the Airport Expo Center, 3900 McCauley Dr. There will be a shuttle to the emergency exercise site.
