City and public safety leaders to take part in National Night Out

Dayton's National Night Out celebration will kick-off on Tuesday, Aug. 6, at 5 p.m., as city leaders along with police and fire personnel visit events in five neighborhoods.

For 36 years, National Night Out has helped build stronger, safer communities. In 2018, more than 38 million people in 16,500 communities took part in National Night Out festivities across the U.S. and Canada and at military installations around the world. National Night Out celebrations have grown over the years, from just leaving on porch lights to events such as block parties and cookouts allowing citizens, law enforcement and local government leaders to interact in a positive, fun environment.

The Dayton Police Department will lead a neighborhood caravan tour starting at City Hall to these National Night Out community celebrations:

5 p.m. - Residence Park, West Second Street at Elmhurst Road

5:35 p.m. - VA Center, 4100 W. Third St.

6:20 p.m. - The Glen, 611 St. Joseph St.

7 p.m. - Old North Dayton, Stuart Patterson Park, 238 Baltimore St.

7:35 p.m. - Oregon District, Newcom Founders Park, Brown Street at Green Street.
