

Next "Know Your Rights and Responsibilities" session: Thursday, April 7

Release date: Tuesday, March 29, 2022

Contact: Erica Fields, Dayton Human Relations Council, 937-333-1403

As a next step in implementing the Dayton police reform recommendations, the Human Relations Council and the Dayton Police Department will host the next "Know Your Rights and Responsibilities" session on Thursday, April 7, at 6 p.m., at the Northwest Recreation Center conference room (1600 Princeton Dr., Dayton).

Myla Cardona-Jones, J.D., Sinclair Community College, will present on the rights and responsibilities of residents when interacting with police. Space is limited; participants are encouraged to register at: <https://bit.ly/KnowYourRights04>.

"As co-chair of the Use of Force Working Group in the police reform process, I heard clearly from citizens who were unsure about their own rights and proper officer conduct during an interaction with law enforcement. I am happy to see that the Know Your Rights and Responsibilities trainings, which were a key recommendation of the working group, are happening and benefitting the community," said Mayor Jeffrey Mims.

###

-----

Established in 1962 by the Dayton City Commission, the Dayton Human Relations Council works to influence and ensure a culture of fair treatment, inclusion, and equal access to opportunities for all who live, work, play, and gather in the city of Dayton. The Council provides civil rights enforcement; builds the capacity of minority-owned, woman-owned and small disadvantaged businesses; and administers community relations initiatives.

FOLLOW US

Visit the City of Dayton newsroom