Four members of the Dayton Police Department motor unit are in Washington, D.C., through May 16 to assist with National Police Week memorial observances.

The Dayton officers will join motor units from across the country in escorting families of fallen officers during transport to/from airports, hotels and other locations.

The motor unit will also be involved in various events throughout the week, including a candlelight vigil and the annual Peace Officers Memorial Day service. The officers will also meet with children at the National Police Survivors Conference for Kids and Teens and present them with Dayton Police Department tokens.

The Dayton officers are honored to have this opportunity to contribute and show support to families who have lost loved ones.

The Dayton Police Department motor unit last participated in Police Week ceremonies in 2003.
